Vol. 113 No. 9 | Cameron, Milam County, Texas Thursday April 13, 1972 | 10¢ Per Copy | 10 Pages Today

With F.M.L.

As I fanned through the tab section on Cameron Urban Renewal's annual report, I thought something looked familiar.

Back again, turning the pages and looking at the pictures of all the key people who are putting together this modern downtown package.

Back yet again, and it hit me. Why, those are moustaches on some of those "young Turks". Not in one picture or two of the pictures or even three of them. But four out five group shots had men with moustaches in them.

Then, I thought, they can't all be sheriffs or Texas Rangers or what have you. They are architects and lawyers and other professionals. A few even had long sideburns. Or a full head of hair.

Why, what is this world coming to? Can builders of one of the most modern small cities in Texas possibly be wearers of these?

Then, I thought, (a bad habit, positively) maybe a moustache and a little extra hair is good for foresight and fortitude. But that can't be. You've got a moustache, 113, obviously a semi-glib, hip-type newspaperman hiding behind one of these.

Well, it can't all be bad. If people who help rebuild a downtown community can wear a moustache, so can I.

113-113-113

A word should be said for the baseball Yoemen, who it is reported, are working on a 10-game winning streak in this, the second season in modern YHS baseball history.

District play is well underway and the Yoemen must be high in the rankings if they don't lead. It's been a long time since Cameron had a string of 10 straight in any sport. The basketball Yoemen a couple of years ago went about that many in the second half of the season to win the first district title for YHS in 17 or 18 years. Could it be the '72 Yoe club is on its way to a title?

We hope so.

113-113-113

Work is underway on the rodeo arena in Wilson-Ledbetter Park for a forthcoming teen-age rodeo. The dates are April 21-22, we understand.

This is another sport first, and an exciting, even dangerous one for teen riders. The broncs, we are advised, won't be quite the top run in toughness, but they will give these teens a chance to break an arm or head if they miscue.

It's a good way to find out whether your're brittle or sinewy crunching down from a bucking horse.

Never tried the sport, but hockey was good enough for me. Skate blades and hockey sticks and brick-hard pucks were enough for that day.

PTA To Meet

The Cameron PTA will meet Thursday (tonight) at 7:30 p.m. in the Yoe High Library. The program will be given by Ed Foster, Distributive Education teacher at Yoe High.

UIL WINNERS - Laura Helsley, seated, and Melinda Fincher will represent Yoe High at the regional UIL competition at Brenham April 22. Laura, a junior, won second place in typing for first-year students, and Melinda, a sophomore, won first place in persuasive speaking in the district contest.

Student Transfer Requests Due At School By June 1

AUSTIN

Parents who wish to transfer children from their home school to a nearby district for the 1972-73 academic year must submit their requests to the receiving school district by June 1, 1972, according to an announcement from the Texas Education Agency.

Once approved by the receiving school board of trustees, the request must then be cleared by the Texas Education Agency. This state approval is a requirement of the order issued by the U. S. District Court in Tyler.

The order, related to the desegregation of schools in Texas, states in part that the Texas education Agency "shall not permit, make arrangements for or give support of any kind to student transfers, between school districts, when the cumulative effect in either the sending or receiving school or school districts will be to reduce or impede desegregation, or to reinforce, renew, or encourage the continuation of acts and practices resulting in discriminatory treatment of students on the grounds of race, color, or national origin."

Only hardship cases will be considered for transfer approval after June 1, according to Leon R. Graham, Texas Education Agency assistant commissioner for administration. Any late application must state specifically the exact nature of the hardship and why the application was not filed with the receiving school by the June 1 deadline.

"We expect to approve few late transfer requests and those must definitely be hardship cases," Graham added.

Fort Hood Soldier Killed In Accident

A Ft. Hood soldier was pronounced dead on arrival at a Rockdale hospital following a grinding crash on the highway early Tuesday morning.

Dead was John M. Pelis, driver of a 1970 Chevrolet Camaro which sideswiped a truck driven by Bobby Sizemore of Dallas. The car ran into the side of the truck and struck the trailer wheels.

The accident occured about 5:15 a.m. on State Highway 36 about two miles south of Milano.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Milton Wright said Pelis was pinned in the wreckage an hour before the body was taken to the hospital.

Other accidents reported by Wright included a cow-truck collision near National Hall in Cameron at 4:20 a.m. Driver of the truck was Ernest Henson of Temple. The cow was killed.

A one-car turnover was reported at 6:45 a.m. Monday. Thelma Key of Rockdale was taken to St. Edward Hospital for treatment of minor injuries after her car turned over on Farm Road 1712 about three miles north of Rockdale.

Patrolman Leroy Broadus investigated two accidents at the same time and place at 12:05 Saturday night. A car driven by John Zawadzke of Cameron was attempting a left turn on US 190 at Pettibone and was struck in the rear by a car driven by Leon McGoldrick of Waco.

McGoldrick was treated for minor injuries at Newton Hospital at Cameron.

At the same time and location a pickup driven by Dale Litzman of Cameron was struck in the rear by a Volkswagen station wagon. Driver of the Volkswagen fled before Broadus arrived and the vehicle was found to have been stolen from Killeen that same morning.

Brucellosis Testing Due For County Cattle

Bill McCutchen, Milam County Agent, said this week that the county's modified certified brucellosis free status will be threatened unless cattle owners cooperate in a testing program.

Dr. Robert S. Pate, with the Texas Animal Health Commission has notified the county that at least 50 herds totaling 2,000 head must be retested prior to September to maintain the modified - certified status that the county presently has. To date there has been only a token number of cattle retested.

Skip Nobles, with the Texas Animal Health Commission, was assigned to Milam County as of April 10 to help re-certify the county as "modified - certified brucellosis free."

"I would urge all cattle owners to cooperate in the brucellosis testing program," McCutchen said. "Loss of the modified certified status would create a severe hardship on all cattle owners in the county."

The retesting will have to be done on a volunteer basis, McCutchen said, "No one's arm will be twisted by the Texas Animal Health personnel, but I hope all cattlemen will realize the importance of recertification and cooperate to the fullest extent."

He said the testing might mean some inconveniences to the cattlemen in planning and handling livestock, but the Texas Animal Health Commission said that they will try to work herds at the convenience of the producer. Cattlemen having plans to work livestock and will test should contact the Extension office.

There is no charge for testing, and with the new, more accurate testing methods the technician will be able to tell producers on the farm if they have a brucellosis reactor.

Yoe To Present One-Act Plays

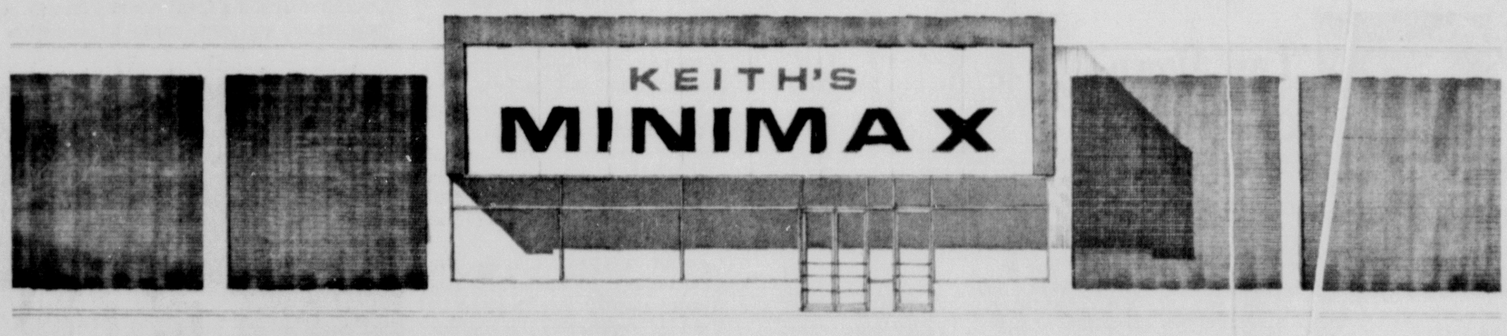
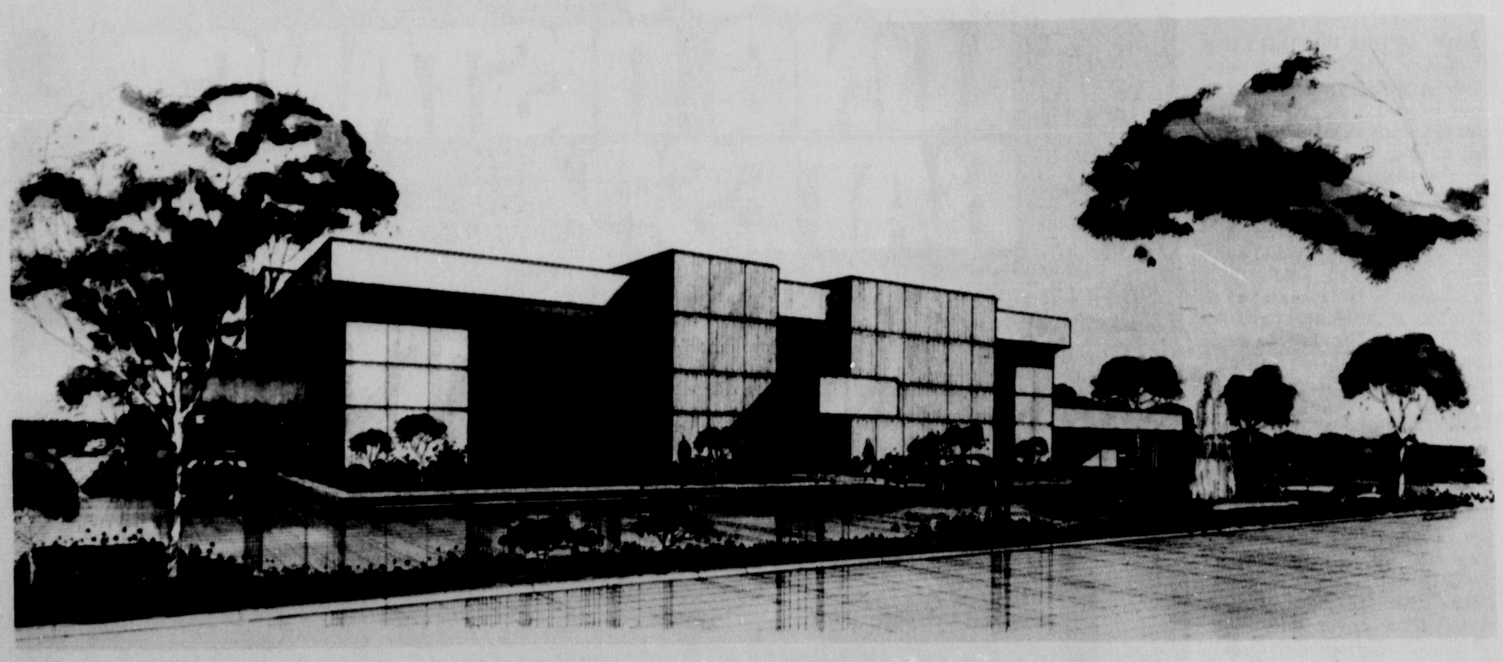
CANDIDATE HERE

Wayne Connally, candidate for Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor, will be in Cameron at 3 p.m. Thursday, part of a 70-city helicopter tour of Texas.



NEW SUPERMARKET - A new building for Keith's Minimax will be built at 7th and North Travis, with construction to start about Monday. Contractor is Wescott & Friday of Livingston, Texas.



ARTISTS CONCEPTION of new Citizens National Bank building to be constructed on N. Travis.

Bank Announces New Building Plans

An August 1 construction start is planned for a new building for Citizens National Bank in the 500 block North Travis, according to Citizens President Hilliard S. Thomas.

The two-story, 18,500 square-foot, modern structure will center on the block, the main entrance facing west. Exterior of the contemporary design will be of stone, glass and pre-cast concrete.

Board of directors of the bank filed March 31 with Comptroller of Currency for relocation of the banking facility to 505 North Travis.

Construction would be complete by about April 15, 1974, two years from the announcement.

Thomas said planning has been underway for several years.

The bank block will be paved for 26 parking spaces, will have four teller drive-in windows and one drive-in note window and will have landscaping around the block, a 40,000 - square foot area.

The bank will feature two vaults, Thomas said, including a first floor vault for money and a separate vault on the second floor for storage valuables like oil paintings. A large area of the second floor will be open for future expansion, he said. It will also have a community room and offices, connected by elevator to the main floor.

The first floor will have complete banking facilities, Thomas noted. Outside dimensions of the building are 105 feet, 8 inches by 134 feet. The center lobby will be two stories high.

Thomas said no plans have been made for the bank's present facilities downtown, following relocation. It will be the first time since 1900, the year the bank opened, that it is moved from the original site, except during temporary relocation when the present main downtown structure was built in 1929.

Architects are Matthews & Associates, of Bryan.

More New Construction

Major construction projects have been announced by a Cameron bank and a supermarket.

And the construction program in Cameron continues following groundbreaking for a savings institution.

The effect of a downtown mall will have enormous effect for trade in this area. And the addition of broader service facilities in food and finance show that Cameron is continuing to anticipate the future.

Cameron is indeed fortunate to find this much confidence in its future in so many areas of the Milam economy. Its the stuff of small cities, which we are fast becoming.

These developments are keeping with the new view that Milam County and Central Texas is taking of area potential.

Where's The Increase?

Beef prices are up, but where is the increase?

Not among Nebraska beef producers, according to Nebraska Sen. Carl Curtis in the Congressional Record.

The Senator quoted cattle and retail beef prices noted in the Hastings newspaper, which showed the dramatic difference between what the beef grower gets and what the processed product sells for. Prices are actually down for prime cattle compared to 20 years ago.

We quote:

Cattle and Retail Beef Prices

	Jan. 9 1952	Feb. 16 1972
Prime Cattle	$39.00 cwt.	$38.00 cwt.
Most Choice to Prime	$33.50-$38.00	$34.00 to $37.00
Swiss Steak	$0.85 lb.	$1.69 lb.
Round Steak	.98	1.38

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

CAMPAIGN 1972 -- YEAR OF THE RAT

REP. MORRIS K. UDALL (Ariz.) ". . . Lacking any real appreciation of Buddhist traditions, many Americans have been amused to learn that throughout the Orient 1972 is known as The Year of the Rat. Watching what was billed in New Hampshire as a debate among presidential candidates, Americans found out that this year the rat has symbolic meaning in this country as well.

"The most startling moments of that debate were provided by a nuisance candidate, Edward Coll, who chose to dramatize his gripes against society by dangling in front of the other candidates and the stunned television a black rubber rat. . .

"Admittedly, Mr. Coll is an extreme example of what is wrong with the primary system. Yet he produced the kind of outrage which should spur thoughtful men to ponder the future of the system whose carnival-like atmosphere degrades serious candidates for this country's highest office. .

"Television's investment in the primaries has grown so that one network executive would tell a group of colleagues in California: 'As far as we're concerned, this thing isn't between Goldwater and Rockefeller, it's between CBS and NBC. That night CBS commentators projected a winner 38 minutes before some of the polls closed. By 1968 that medium had truly become the message.

"It was said of the New Hampshire campaign that if one more television cable were run in, the State would blow a fuse. . .

"In legislation, I am introducing today, the following reforms in the presidential primary are recommended. One. My bill says to the States: Have your primaries but only on one of three specified dates in April, May or June. . . Second. Assure that the contest will be held between major candidates. . .

"I ask the appropriate committee of Congress to give this and related proposals early consideration."

REP. ROY A. TAYLOR (N.C.) ". . . Today I am introducing a bill that would require all State presidential-preferential primaries to be held on the same day. Twenty-five of these primaries are scheduled this year -- up from 14 in 1968 -- and they are stretched out over several months.

"This system of multiple primaries leaves the candidates broke and exhausted and leaves the public confused, tired and sick from an overdose of politics. . .

"I agree with Senator Mansfield that the present system is a 'political circus or road show' and that it is not fair to the candidates or the voters. For the under-financed candidate, this system is fatal. . ."

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

Vaudeville is dead. It should not be revived by campaign managers recruiting phony demonstrations of enthusiasm in high school gymnasiums in 25 States.

Fourteen presidential primaries in 1968; 25 in 1972; possibly 50 in 1976. The outdated presidential primary system needs a complete overhaul.--J.C.

Bullock Sends Instructions For Financing Primaries

By Bill Boykin

County political party chairmen have been advised how they can collect state funds for paying May 6 primary election expenses.

Secretary of State Bob Bullock advised the local party officials to prepare immediately detailed estimates of their outlays.

Bullock sent out forms and these instructions immediately after Gov. Preston Smith signed a new law providing $2 million in state aid to finance the primaries:

* Only when sworn estimates are returned and reviewed will state checks be prepared in the amount of three-fourths of the total expense. Additional warrants will be drawn after the election.

* Prior expenses (before the new state financing law) which exceed the amount of candidates' filing fees and contributions will not be paid by the state -- unless cancelled and re-negotiated on new contracts.

* The new state law does not permit any state reimbursement of expenditures for precinct or county conventions or for paying executive committee members for attending meetings.

* State funds can be used to pay for "necessary and legitimate primary expenses" like ballot printing, polling place and voting machine rental, purchase of election sets, stationery, telephones, office rental and compensation of election clerks and judges.

* After the primaries, the secretary of state will require sworn verification of every expendtiure made out of the primary fund, together with supporting receipts and cancelled vouchers.

* Estimates of June 3 runoff primary expenses will be required at a later date through the same procedures.

EMPLOYERS PAYING LESS

Texas employers are paying less unemployment tax per worker than those of any other state, Texas Employment Commission reports.

The state average is $9.17 per worker covered by unemployment insurance, according to a 1970 TEC survey.

Comparatively, Alaska, at the top of the scale, pays out $276.18 per worker to support state benefits; California, $97.41 and Virginia (next lowest to Texas), $11.89.

W. S. Bidwell Jr., TEC employer representative, credited the low rate to unusual stability in employers and the work force, as well as a high degree of cooperation in the U.I. program.

TEC collects taxes from more than 162,000 Texas employers covered by the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act. Taxes are based on rate of worker turnover generally. The minimum tax is 0.1 per cent and the maximum four per cent.

RADIOACTIVITY NOTED

Air sampling stations in Abilene, Amarillo and Fort Worth observed a "slight" rise in radioactive fallout which they attributed to the Chinese Lop Nor nuclear test of March 18.

Texas State Department of Health reported the findings on March 26. The increases were not regarded as presenting any public health hazard, but simply as evidence of sensitivity of the air sampling network.

Stations are part of a comprehensive radiological surveillance activity conducted throughout the state. They are operated by local health departments in cooperation with the Texas State Department of Health and the Environmental Protection Agency's Las Vegas off-site monitoring network.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Supreme Court ordered a full trial of a Methodist Church dispute over $140,000 in trust funds.

In another case, the High Court reversed a trial court judgement and set aside a Railroad Commission order requiring owners of 26.6 acres of Wharton County mineral interests to pool their holdings with 15.342 acres in another oil producing unit.

In other cases last week, the Supreme Court:

* Upheld a $158,651 judgement against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company resulting from flooding of two Lubbock apartment houses with water from the roadbed.

* Agreed customers of a Port Arthur restaurant who got sick after eating there should collect damages.

* Held a Lubbock policeman had a right to reinstatement in his job after 18 years' active duty with the Air Force.

An Austin district court refused to order a May 6 Democratic referendum on Daylight Saving Time.

The Third Court of Civil Appeals found alteration cost on clothing is not subject to the state sales tax.

AG OPINIONS

* Extension of four justice precincts by arm-like appurtenances cutting across election precincts in Smith County violates the election code.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

Anybody who thinks he knows people just hasn't made a close enough study of the subject.

For example, I read an item in a newspaper last night about a train ride 400 people took recently just for fun under the new Amtrack program to revive passenger trains.

What struck me was a statement by one of the passengers. "The ride was all right but seven and a half hours is too long for a 355-mile trip," he complained.

Now as I interpret this, seven and a half hours wouldn't have been too long if he'd traveled say 1,000 miles, but I still don't understand it. If you're going to stay in motion for seven and a half hours, what difference does it make whether you end up 335 miles or 1,000 miles from where you started?

Anybody who can convince himself that the distance traveled reduces the fatigue per hour, never has ridden a tractor up one row and down another. Me, if I have to start out on a 250-mile trip, don't figure I'm 250 miles from my destination. I figure I'm 500 miles from getting back home.

Most travel reminds me of the current see-saw craze. You know, two youngsters get on a see-saw and see how long they can last. The current record, I understand, is 144 hours, set by two young boys, and who is to say they traveled less distance than the man who prides himself on having breakfast in New York and dinner in Los Angeles?

If the time between breakfast and dinner is the same, why use up the time in between see-sawing or riding an airplane? I understand one airline is now bragging that it has reduced the time between New York and London from 3 movies to 2. If you can stay up that late you can see the same ones on your T.V. set at home.

Most things these days I don't understand, but don't get the notion I'm a candidate for Congress.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Annual Report Due Social Security

People who got one or more monthly social security retirement or survivors checks in 1971 and who earned over $1,680 in 1971 are required to submit an annual report of their earnings to social security by April 17, according to Ray Ward, social security Field Representative in Temple.

The annual report shows how much a social security beneficiary earned last year in wages and self - employment income, and what, if any, he expects to earn this year. The key word is "earn." Income from interest, dividends, other retirement plans, rent, or sale of real or personal property (unless received by a real estate dealer), should not be included in the report of earnings, according to Ward.

The annual report is used to determine if a beneficiary was paid the correct amount of cash payments last year. It's also used to adjust his monthly payments for this year according to his estimated earnings, Ward said.

Disability beneficiaries or beneficiaries who were 72 during all months of 1971 do not need to make an annual earnings report, Ward said.

"There are penalties for beneficiaries who file late or do not file and annual report when one is due, unless good cause can be shown. A penalty means a loss of benefits," Ward said.

Annual report forms are available at any social security office.

People who get social security checks and have questions about the annual report or need an annual report form may call, write, or visit the Temple social security office. They may also contact the representative on the scheduled dates he is here, Ward stated.

FFA Rodeo Team Ready For Spring

The Yoe FFA Rodeo team is back on the go again and is prepared for a very challenging spring.

Last Saturday, March 25, Paul McDermott and Kenneth Kirk traveled to Centerville for their first rodeo of the year. Paul and Kenneth both participated in breakaway roping, tie-down roping and ribbon roping. Unfortunately, neither of the boys placed. Elizabeth Stedman ran for Kenneth in ribbon roping.

On Friday, March 31, nine members of the team participated in an FFA rodeo at Corsicana. They were Debra Coufal, Elizabeth Stedman, Theresa Schulze, Paul McDermott, Kenneth Kirk, Dan Foster, Ned McElwrath, Donnie Tucker, and Rickie Watkins. Debra, Elizabeth, and Theresa won eighth place in steer saddling. None of the other team members placed in their events.

The world's largest high school rodeo was held March 30, 31, and April 1 in Cleburne. There were a total of 1600 contestants entered in this rodeo. Five of these contestants were from the Yoe FFA Rodeo Team. They were Debra Coufal, Elizabeth Stedman, Ned McElwrath, Kenneth Kirk, and Paul McDermott. Paul won fifth place in Tie-down with a time of 12.5.

Trackers Foiled By Mud Room

A mud room, no matter how small, is a great boon for mothers of small ones, or for the wife of a sportsman or gardener who otherwise might track through the house.

A corner of the garage or a closet near the back entry will do for this addition. A sink and space to hang up wet clothes and store boots is all that's needed.

A set of built-in western wood shelves and a closet behind bifold louvered wood doors provides ventilated storage, keeps things neatly out of sight.

County FB Leader Defends Food Prices

Agricultural producers should be praised -- not blamed -- in the current national controversy over food prices, Ed Lehmann of Buckholts, president of the Milam County Farm Bureau, said.

"Productivity in agriculture has been increasing about twice as fast as in industry," the local farm leader said. "This amazing efficiency is basic to our high standard of living."

Lehmann said that if consumers paid the same proportion of their take home pay for food today as was the case 20 years ago, the food bill for American consumers would be about $50 billion more per year than is actually the case. Many items of food are produced with such efficiency and in such volume, that the cost to the housewife is little more than production costs. To cite several of these, the price on chickens and eggs. There is very little change in the last 20 years.

"The farmers and ranchers are proud of the fact that, partly as a result of their record performance, the American consumer today has to spend only about 16 percent of his after-tax dollars for food -- the smallest proportion of income ever achieved here or anywhere in the world," the local Farm Bureau president said.

Lehmann said that cattle prices are now about what they were 20 years ago, and that farm prices in general have risen only about seven percent in that period. He pointed out that money paid to wage earners has increased 340 percent and that business and professional income is up 200 percent over that same period.

"The American farmer has been the best hedge against inflation the American consumer has," the farm leader asserted.

He pointed out that only by increasing both his investment and his efficiency has the farmer been able to stay in business.

Livestock Dealer Fined

Arnold Young, a livestock dealer of Groesbeck, has been fined $750 and permanently enjoined by a Federal Court from violating registration and and bonding requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said today.

Young is now in compliance with the bonding requirements of the Act.

The U.S. District Court for the Western District of Texas, Waco Division, enjoined Young, his agents and employees, from engaging in business in commerce in any capacity for which registration and bonding are required under the P&S Act without filing an acceptable bond or its equivalent.

Young had violated the Secretary of Agriculture's cease and desist order in P&S Docket 4127, issued June 18, 1969, by operating without a sufficient bond.

BRA Launches Study To Protect Water Quality

The Brazos River Authority is launching a basin-wide study aimed at producing a comprehensive plan to protect the quality of water in the 42,000 square mile watershed of the Brazos River, A. L. Brooks, Jr., Authority president, has announced.

Brooks said the board of directors recently authorized Authority general manager Walter J. Wells to proceed with the study program.

Colonel Wells, as a first step in the study plan, announced the appointment of Richard H. Smith as project manager and Richard A. Crisp as assistant project manager. Both are environmental engineers. Wells said the two engineers will work under the supervision of Carson Hoge, director of planning and development for the Authority.

In this far-reaching program, Colonel Wells said, the Authority is taking action on a comprehensive, long-range basis to reduce pollution of the Brazos River from all sources, including industrial and municipal discharges and agricultural and storm run-off.

He said the planning work will include hydrologic and water quality data studies, existing facilities surveys, economic and water need projections, stream quality modeling, ecological studies, environmental impact studies, and development of a monitoring and data handling system, waste water treatment plans, a financial and jurisdictional plan, and a managerment plan.

Hoge said the study, plans for which have been made over the past 18 months, will provide a framework and guide for perfecting solutions to water quality problems throughout the basin.

The study will be a cooperative effort with the Environmental Protection Agency of the federal government, the Texas Water Quality Board, and the Planning Division of the Governor's office. It will be closely coordinated with regional councils of government and other interested local, state and federal agencies through a planning advisory committee consisting of representatives from each of these agencies.

Wells said both Smith and Crisp are experienced environmental engineers who have already worked on water quality planning and management projects in several areas to be included in the Authority's basin - wide study.

USDA Designates Later Deadlines For Set-Aside

Senator John Tower today announced the United States Department of Agriculture has agreed to establish later deadlines for designating set -aside acres by Texas farmers for various crops.

The new and later deadlines were established as a result of a recent letter by Tower to Undersecretary of Agriculture J. Phil Campbell pointing out that current deadlines come too early for most Texas crops.

Tower told Campbell that the old guidelines for designating set - aside acres would result in a hardship for cotton and feed grain producers in the High Plains and Low Rolling Plains of Texas.

Today Tower said he was informed by the USDA that under the new guidelines, farmers do not have to designate set - aside acreage for any particular crop until he certifies that crop. Under previous rules, a farmer had to designate all his set-aside acreage by May 1.

Tower had pointed out that producers in the Plains areas of Texas often do not designate set-aside acreage for a particular crop under the government support program until they certify the planted acres due to local weather and moisture conditions.

The USDA informed the senior Texas senator that it also is moving up the present final certification deadline for all crops from July 15 to Aug. 1.

Tower said the new certification deadlines would be "extremely helpful" to Texas farmers.

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service as a public service to tax payers. The column answers questions most frequently asked questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q - Last year I purchased a $5,000 certificate of deposit having a redemption value at maturity in three years of $5,960. Can I wait until this certificate matures before paying tax on the interest?

A - No. Starting January 1, 1971, deferred interest became taxable annually on a monthly pro rata basis if the maturity of the deposit or account is more than on year. For example, if you purchased the certificate of deposit on July 1, 1971, you must include in income $160 of the total deferred interest of $960 on your 1971 return.

Q - Are tips taxable?

A - Yes. All tips you receive are subject to Federal income tax. In addition, cash tips amounting to $20 or more that you receive in a month while working for any one employer must be reported to that employer so that income tax and Social Security tax may be withheld.

Q - My grandfather died last year and left me 200 shares of stock he purchased at $10 per share. The stock was worth $20 per share when he died. Do I have to pay tax on this inheritance or the amount the stock appreciated?

A - No. Bequests or inheritances you receive are not taxable. The amount the stock appreciated up to your grandfather's death is also not taxable as income. However, you are taxed on any further appreciation in the stock from that point when you eventually dispose of the stock.

Q - Are the costs of work clothes and uniforms deductible as employee business expenses?

A - Generally you may not deduct the cost and maintenance of work clothing. However, if your occupation requires special apparel or equipment as a condition of employment, its cost and maintenance are deductible if it is not adaptable to general or continued usage in place of ordinary clothing. Examples are special apparel and equipment required of firemen, police officers, letter carriers and nurses.

Q - Who is eligible to file as a "Head of Household?"

A - To qualify as a head of household and thus be eligible to compute your tax at the special rate, you must meet the following conditions:

1) You must be unmarried (or legally separated under a decree of divorce or separate maintenance) on the last day of your taxable year;

2) You must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining a household for the entire year for at least one relative who must live with you (except for your parents), or be your dependent, or both;

3) Your father or mother has to be your dependent, but need not live with you. Your unmarried child, grandchild, stepchild, or foster child must live with you but need not be your dependent. Any other relatives must both live with you and be your dependent.

For more information, see your tax form instructions.

Q - I obtained a job last year through an employment agency and paid them a $750 fee. Is this deductible on my tax return?

A - Yes. Fees paid to an employment agency for successfully securing new employment are deductible. However, those fees paid merely for seeking employment are not deductible.

Q - I work for a department store which give employees courtesy discounts on items purchased from the store. Should I be taxed on the amount of these discounts I received?

A - Courtesy discounts on purchases from employers are not income if they are of relatively small value and are offered to employees generally as a means of promoting their health, goodwill or efficiency.

MRS. PAUL E. JUNIUS

Junius, Stanislaw Say Vows In Dallas

Miss Evelyn Stanislaw of Dallas, daughter of Frank H. Stanislaw, Cameron, became the bride of Paul E. Junius, son of Mrs. John Junius of Arlington, on April 8 at Christ the King Catholic Church, Dallas. The Rev. B. C. Junius, brother of the groom, officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of Cluny lace and chiffon and carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Sydonia Stanislaw of New York was maid of honor. She wore a dress fashioned of pink silk and carried a bouquet of spring flowers.

Ronald Junius of Las Vegas, Nevada, served as bestman. Ushers were Jule Champion and Paul Horn.

The couple will make their home at 4120 Hyer, Dallas.

'Change' Is DKG Study

"Women: Agents of Change" was the subject of the program for Beta Nu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, April 8, at 10:30 a.m. when they met at the Haus Bavaria in Rockdale. Mrs. Gwynn Range directed a dramatic presentation of the skit "The Moment of Truth."

Mrs. Nadine Zelisko concluded the program by leading the group in singing the Delta Kappa Gamma Song.

Mrs. Opal Grusendorf and Mrs. Joyce Bayless gave the eulogy for Mrs. Gladys Maxwell, recently deceased member.

'Talk To Members' Is Program

A recording "A Talk To Members" by V. Rev. Bertin Roll, Capuchin National Director, was part of the program for the meeting of St. Monica's Ladies Society Tuesday, April 4.

Rev. Roll suggested that individual members ask themselves: "Am I a Christian mother or am I just a mother" and "Do I strive to go to communion with the confraternity members?"

In another section of the program Mrs. Pete Mikula presented a short article on the Feast of the Annunciation.

Participation in Folk Fete, Church Women United's May Fellowship luncheon and the Austin Dioscean Convention of Catholic Women in Brenham April 17 were all discussed during the business meeting.

Mrs. John Cordier, chairman of the Spring Festival reported that three door prizes in the amounts of $15, $10 and $5 would be given away at the Festival to be held April 15.

Church Ceremony Unites Couple

Miss Pamela Kay Hopper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hopper, Jr. of 10121 Burman, Houston, Texas, became the bride of Mark Alan Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Meyer of Cameron on April 7, 1972 in First Baptist Church of Rosebud, Texas. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Geary McManus.

The bride selected a designer gown of chantilly lace and satapeau. The gown was designed with a re-embroidered lace bodice, featuring a high neckline and bishop sleeves. A detached chapel length train with lace motif completed the gown.

A pearled lace Camelot cap held a veil of illusion. She carried a cascade of white daisies centered by a white orchid.

Mrs. Beverly Huntsman, of Rosebud, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Bagley, of Cameron, cousin of the bride, and Miss Debbie Box, of Lott. Attendants wore matching gowns of yellow dotted swiss with white crocheted daisies accenting the Empire waist and short puff sleeves. They carried nosegays of white and yellow daisies.

COLLEGE STATION

"I remember when. . . ."

"When I was your age. . . ."

Statements such as these and other nostalgic glances into the past don't have a place in childrearing, according to family life education specialist Dorthy Taylor.

Miss Taylor, who works for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, explained that parents who apply solutions that originated in their childhood to present situations simply aren't in tune with today's world.

"True, some things haven't changed," Miss Taylor said. "These are basic interpersonal relations, learning how to get along with people, ethical concepts, honesty and dishonesty and religious training. People also still need to acquire certain basic skills such as learning how to cook or fix a flat tire, sharing experiences and telling children about safety."

The specialist said that the same can be said for educational opportunities.

"They're still important," she explained. "For the parents these were probably limited -- even more so for the mother. So, many parents just don't feel comfortable with the thought that their child isn't going to college. In fact, they're horrified."

Yet many young people today desire to enter a trade and become a craftsman. The child belives (and rightly so, according to many experts) that America has quickly become top heavy with intellectual brain machines and has a critical need for intellectually endowed craftsmen and people who operate in a practical world.

If a son or daughter goes off to college, many parents aren't comfortable on today's college campus -- especially if either of them attended the same school.

"I remember when this was a small, quiet campus. Look at it now," they say.

Another aspect that parents can't solve with yesterday's solutions involves the appropriate amount of spending money for miscellaneous activities.

"Stop and consider what your teenager spends money for," Miss Taylor advised. "most of the activities weren't even thought to be possible 25 years ago."

Other areas of possible conflict include how youth feel about the draft, civil rights, styles of dress, personal appearance, authority, pressure to get good marks in school and the position of the female in society.

The specialist said that "I remember when. . . ." may work in some cases, but before applying it or using it as a solution to a problem today, consider if the problem you're trying to solve is really the same as it was when you were a child or whether anyone even thought this situation would ever occur.

RS ANSWERS ANSWERS ANSWEI
An adding machine performs accurately for anyone who uses it correctly. Each person may record a different column of figures. Answers will vary accordingly but each will be correct.
Life also registers what we give it . . . produces results correspondingly. Sometimes we are so harried and hurried with whirling activities we forget to include worship.
When we do clear our minds for understanding and prayer with God, good results follow.
The Church has accurate answers for modern problems. Let it help you find correct solutions.
